

STONE DEFEATS GREEK

Jack Stone was the victor in a wrestling match at the Tabb Opera House last Wednesday night over Gus Kavaras, known as the "Greek Lion."

The Greek won the first fall after 29 minutes of a great struggle. In the second Stone was the victor after 16 minutes of wrestling, although the Greek insisted his shoulders were not to the mat but Dr. McKenna, the referee, thought differently and declared the fall was won by Stone with the toe hold.

Before the match started an argument ensued between Stone and the Greek concerning whether or not the Greek could wrestle without shoes or not. Stone refused to wrestle him unless he wore shoes and the Greek claimed that he never wrestled with shoes on. Finally it was agreed to leave the matter to the audience whose decision was to the effect that the Greek must put on shoes. After Stone won the third fall the Greek rushed to the front of the stage and throwing off his shoes announced that he would wrestle without his shoes and forfeit $200 to any local charity if he did not throw him but Stone refused the challenge preferring to wait until another match could be arranged.

They later signed an agreement to wrestle again next Wednesday night, the Greek to be allowed to work in his bare feet and a better match even than the first is a certainty. The sporting editor of the Lexington Herald will referee.

In the preliminary, Jack Halev, of Lexington, threw Harvey Willoughby, of this city, the first fall and forfeited the second fall to Willoughby when he used the strangle hold, which was barred. Neither was able to gain a third fall and the match was pronounced a draw. They will decide the match next Wednesday when they will again tackle each other.

CHRISTIAN LIFE ENDS

Mrs. Z. T. Young Dies at Home of Son in Morehead After Short Illness.

God in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to call to Him one of the sweetest Christian women it has ever been our pleasure and honor to know, in the person of Mrs. Z. T. Young.

For many years Mrs. Young resided in this city and was always a leading spirit in charity work and Christian fellowship, ever ready to give of her time and means toward furthering her Master's cause or aiding the needy in sickness, distress or trouble, and many hearts that she had comforted, not only by material aid but by kind words and deeds will speed a prayer Heavenward invoking God's blessings upon her and asking that He give solace to the hearts of her stricken family.

Mrs. Young for many months past has been making her home in Morehead with her son, Judge Will A. Young and up until a few days ago was enjoying the best of health when stricken with acute Bright's disease and succumbed to the ravages of that awful malady Monday morning. Mrs. Young was the widow of the late Z. Taylor Young, who preceded her to the grave many years ago. She is survived by three sons, Judge Allie W. Young, Judge Will A. Young, of Morehead; and Z. Taylor, of New York.

Funeral services were conducted at the Christian church in this city Tuesday afternoon with burial in Machpelah cemetery.

The Advocate joins countless friends in extending condolence to the family.

THIEF CAUGHT

About two months ago the home of Mr. B. F. Pollard, on Harrison avenue was burglarized, the thief getting among other things a lot of old coins. The police were notified and kept a lookout for the coins which could be easily identified. A few days ago Millard Gibbons, bartender for Gibbons & Carter, notified Policeman Tipton that a negro had sold him a $2.50 gold piece for 50 cents, and last Tuesday when the negro returned to barter some more of his bargains Mr. Tipton was sent for and arrested the negro who gave the name of Bert Black. Upon being searched most of the stolen coins were found. He will be held over for the grand jury.

SOME BEAN

While in Missouri last year Judge H. Clay McKee, of this city, was shown a variety of bean that had reached the extreme length of 36 inches, or one yard. Judge McKee asked for some seed from the bean saying that if they could grow beans 36 inches long in Missouri, they ought to grow double that length in Kentucky. He planted his seed this year and while he did not succeed in doubling their length, he beat Missouri four inches—he grew one 40 inches in length which is on display in the window of the Advocate Publishing Company.

STILL RAIDED

A moon shine still which it has been known for some time has been operated on Crooks' Branch, in this county, by one Ben Belamy, was raided last Wednesday night by Deputy Collector Wells and Deputy Marshal Eutank. The operator succeeded in escaping with the still before the officers could lay hands on him but about 500 gallons of beer was destroyed.

Obituary of Joseph Myers.

Joseph Myers, who died in Owensville, Ky., August 24th, 1914, was born June 9th, 1840.

He was married to Miss Mary D. Evans on the 29th of January, 1863. To this union nine children were born. Five of the children and the widow survive him. The five are Mr. Jeff Myers and Mrs. Jesse Gray, of Williamsburg, Ohio; Mrs. Oscar Conyers and Mrs. Thomas Conyers, of Bath county, and Mrs. Emery Boggs, of Rocky Ford, Colo.

Uncle Joe Myers, as he was familiarly called, joined the Christian church when he was about nineteen years old. A few weeks before his death he and his wife placed their membership in the Owensville Christian church. He lived an honest and truthful life. His many friends testify to his integrity of character. During his illness he expressed his faith and trust in the Lord. He bore his sufferings with Christian patience and was ready and willing to go where there is no sickness or sorrow.

GOOD FORTUNE

Experts predict that the greatest races of the year will be seen at Lexington's Great Tracts, October 5-15, viz, The Futurity and the Walnut Hall Cup, both of which have been programmed for the first day. The Tennessee (free-for-all pacers) and The Transylvania. And, it certainly looks like they are correct especially about the Walnut Hall Cup and the Tennessee, for in the former Lassie McGregor will meet Bonington and other good ones for the first time and in the latter William 2:00 will have to do battle against the field composed of Evelyn W. 2:00½, Ess H. LATEST WAR NEWS

A long official statement is issued by the French War Office reviewing the operations in Belgium and along the French frontier. No definite details are forthcoming regarding the general battle which apparently is in progress along the line.

The French War Minister has inspected the supplementary defenses around Paris, which are being rapidly pushed forward in anticipation of a possible investment of the French capital.

The moratorium proclaimed at the outbreak of the war in Great Britain has been extended for another month.

A Japanese destroyer, which ran ashore near Tsing Tau, China, was shelled by a German gunboat. The crew of the destroyer, however, had previously abandoned her.

Germany and Great Britain have accepted the first of two alternative proposals suggested by the United States in a recent note to the belligerent nations regarding censorship of wireless connection with Europe.

Richet, the French statistician, puts the daily cost of the present war at $49,500,000, distributed as follows:

Feed of men	$12,600,000
Feed of horses	1,000,000
Pay (European rates)	4,250,000
Pay of workmen in arsenals and ports	1,000,000
Transportation (sixty miles, ten days)	2,100,000
Transportation of provisions	4,200,000
Munitions—
Infantry, 10 cartridges a day	4,200,000
Artillery, ten shots a day	1,200,000
Marine, two shots per day	400,000
Equipment	4,200,000
Ambulances; 500,000 wounded or ill ($1 per day)	500,000
Armature	500,000
Reduction of imports	5,000,000
Help to the poor (20 cents per day to one in ten)	6,800,000
Destruction of towns, etc.	2,000,000

Why should not the dollars and cents value of the earning capacity of men killed and disabled in action; the wasting of the crops and the loss on exports be added to the list — and these are but a few of the items which appear rightly to belong there?

Richet, it will be noted, has busied himself only with the direct costs of one day of war. Even at this distance from the scene of conflict, we are beginning to realize that the figures for the indirect cost are not low.

Gen. Kitchener's prediction that the war will last eighteen months, if verified, ought to give all the nations of the world one thing in common — the moratorium.

LEXINGTON'S BIG TROTS for-all pacing race, in which it seems to have scared a great many business men, but it has evidently had no effect on the nerve of the Directors of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders Association at Lexington for those who know are of the opinion that the program is the richest ever offered by the greatest of all associations, and this in the face of the fact that the foreign element, always so numerous, cannot be at Lexington this all. The Association evidently believes in putting its best foot foremost for the purpose of drawing a big attendance early in the meeting, for on the first day, October 5, they will have two great stakes, viz.: the Walnut Hall Cup and the Futurity for 2-year-olds, the former for $3,000 and the latter for $5,000. On the second day, Tuesday, October 6, those who attend will see the 3-year-old Futurity worth $14,000, as well as the two other first class races including the October Prize, free-for-all trotting. Then on Wednesday, October 7, will be The Tennessee, the great free-

Flirtation Turn In the Hesitation

Posed by Miss Janet McIlwaine and Mr. J. J. White.

A CHARMING position from the hesitation. It is merely a series of reversals from the same basic position. Care must be taken to stand gracefully while doing the turn. Do not whirl while doing this. It is a slow and stately measure in time with the waltz. A great many dancers have a tendency to toe in badly when doing this step. It throws one off their balance and ruins all possibilities of gracefulness. The beginner should guard against it continually.

Start of the One Step

Posed by Miss Wilma Winn and Mr. Everett Evans.

THIS picture illustrates the opening step in the so called turkey trot, but what is really the one step. The girl should be held an inch or two away, and both should stand erect. If there is any lean let it be toward the girl. The dance is nothing more than a quick walk in time to the music and must be done on the balls of the feet. Hopping, bending the knees too far and shaking the shoulders and elbows are impossible. The entire movement should be from the hips.

VAST COLONIAL POSSESSIONS ARE AT STAKE IN THE GENERAL EUROPEAN WAR

When international peace is declared among the nations now at war, millions of square miles of valuable land outside of the European borders will no doubt be redistributed.

France controls 4,538,540 square miles and a population of 40,986,243; in Asia, Africa, America and the islands of the sea. Germany controls 1,027,820 square miles, with an estimated population of 12,041,603.

Russia, in the two protectorates over Bokhara and Khiva known to Americans merely as the names of certain kinds of Oriental rugs, controls 107,000 square miles of land and 1,896,000 people not included within the Russian empire. Finland, for purposes of distribution, is held to be a part of Russia. Belgium controls the Belgian Congo, containing 909,000 square miles and 15,000,000 of Nentus.

Italy controls Eritrea on the Red Sea, Tripoli and Cyrenaica, and part of Somaliland. The first mentioned has an area of 45,800 square miles, an eighth larger than Ohio, with a population of 450,000; Somaliland has an area of 39,430 and a population of 400,000 natives. Tripoli and Cyrenaica have an area of 406,000 square miles and a population estimated at 523,176.

German Southwest Africa and German East Africa has 981,460 square miles, with a white population of 22,405 and a native population of 11,406,024. German East Africa is the prize, containing as it does an area of 384,810 square miles and a population of 7,642,770. German Southwest Africa has an area of 32,245 square miles and a population of whites of 14,833 and a native population of 79,556.

In Asia her jewels consist of Kiau Chau, acquired in 1897, with an area of only 200 square miles but a population of 168,000. That is the seat of the Eastern empire the Kaiser hoped to establish on the ruins of China.

In the Pacific ocean Germany has as large a collection of islands, numerically speaking, as the United States, including the New Guinea, Marshall, Solomon and Caroline islands and part of Samoa, in which the United States also has an interest.

France overseas has possessions putting her away ahead of all those engaged in the war other than Great Britain. She regards Algeria and Tunis, in North Africa, particularly the former, as part of France.

The older colonies, such as Reunion, Martinique and Guadeloupe, have representation in the French Parliament, while Senegal, Guiana and Cochinchina, have each a Deputy.

The British colonial possessions are the whole of the Australian continent, Canada, the former Boer Republic, Somaliland, Bechuanaland, India, Victoria Islands off the coast of China, harbor of Weihaiwei, the Federated Malay States in the Malay peninsula and part of Borneo and New Zealand.

In the West Indies her possessions are the islands of St. Vincent, St. Lucia, Barbados, Trinidad, constituting the eastern boundary of the Caribbean Sea. North of that chain of islands is Nassau and Bermuda, off the coast of Florida. Then there is British Honduras and British Guiana.

In the Pacific she has more than equal division in the small islands in what is generally known as Oceania. Her protectorate over Egypt and her ownership of the island of Malta, and the stronghold of Gibraltar, together with the Suez canal and defenses to its entrance, constitute the most valuable part of her possessions between the home island and the Empire of India.

UNCLE SAM'S REVENUE

Receipts from internal revenue, including the income and corporation taxes, were larger in the fiscal year 1914 than ever before in its history, according to a preliminary report by the Commissioner of the Internal Revenue. From all sources other than income and corporation tax, the collectors brought in $308,627,619, less by $790,535 than collections from similar sources the previous fiscal year. From the corporation and income tax, however, they collected $71,381,275, surpassing the revenue from the corporation tax in 1913 by more than $36,000,000. The total internal revenue amounted to $380,008,894 to June 30, 1914, or about $35,500,000 more than the previous fiscal year. The principal item of decrease was in taxes on distilled spirits which fell off by $4,781,165. Cigarettes brought in about $2,666,116 and fermented liquors about $814,523 additional.

AGRICULTURAL OCCUPATIONS IN KENTUCKY

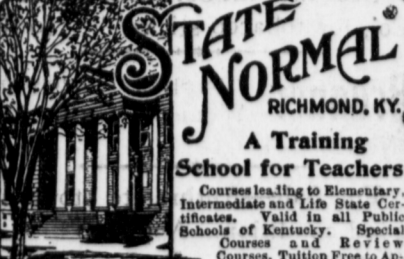

There are 866,980 persons in Kentucky that work for a living and 455,070 of them are employed upon the farm, according to a report which has just been issued by the United States Census Bureau. There are 196,373 farm laborers in the State and 177,313 are males and 19,060 females.

There are 499 dairy farmers in the State and they employ 567 laborers and 19 foremen. There are also 214 persons in the State whose principle source of income is from stock raising. The number of cowboys and sheep herders in this State is 472.

In the entire United States there are 71,580,270 persons over 10 years of age and 38,167,336, or 53 per cent. of this number are engaged in gainful occupations. Of the gainfully occupied, 12,659,203 or 33 per cent. are engaged in agriculture. There are 5,865,000 farm operators in the nation and they employ 5,975,000 laborers.

Returning Americans are shouting their joy at landing back on Uncle Sam's domain in New York harbor and their patriotism knows no bounds until they get down town and fall into hands of the restaurant robbers and cafe brigands, when they backslide to beat the band and wish they had stuck and undergone the other horror.—Lexington Herald.

AVERAGE CORN CROP.

Production of 2,700,000,000 bushels of corn in the United States this year is the forecast of the committee on statistics and standards of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Its report is based on data secured as of August 12. The outlook is for about a normal crop, since the average for ten years is 2,690,000,000 bushels. The committee's report shows that conditions are very good in some sections and very poor in others. Excessive rain in the early growing season and later drouth have injured the crop. Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Kentucky, Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama suffered from a severe drouth. The prospective crop in the more important States are as follows: Texas 35 to 40,000,000 bushels less than last year; Oklahoma, conditions better than last year; Arkansas 25 to 70 per cent. of a crop; Kansas 140 to 145,000,000 bushels; Nebraska possibly over 200,000,000 bushels; Iowa probably more than 400,000,000; Minnesota and Wisconsin, excellent prospects; South Dakota, yield probably in excess of earlier period; Missouri, probably 175 to 180,000,000 bushels; Illinois 25 to 30,000,000 bushels more than last year; Kentucky close to that of last year; Alabama and Georgia, ten to fifteen per cent. less than last year; Indiana probably five per cent. less than last year; Ohio yield above last year.

COMMERCIAL SCHOOLS AND BUSINESS COLLEGES

A report issued today by the Federal Bureau of Education shows that there are seven commercial schools and business colleges in Kentucky. In 1913 the enrollment was 1,404 pupils. It is estimated that more than half this number completed commercial courses and a large number are now employed in Kentucky business institutions. In the entire nation there are 618 business colleges and business schools and they accommodate 160,557 students annually. This is an average annual attendance of 260 pupils per school.

FARM FACTS

Where there is a silo there is prosperity.

There is not enough of the community spirit among our rural districts.

The laws relating to business are wholly unsuited to the transactions of the farmer.

The waste of effort through impractical methods of farming is the greatest tragedy of the age.

Something is wrong in our marketing system when a small crop brings more money than a bountiful one.

Co-operation between practical farmers and proficient business men will eliminate ignorance and prejudice.

The nation's menu must be made up from the fields, pastures, orchards and gardens, and to farm intelligently the farmer must know what is needed.

We must give the same consideration to a system of co-operative laws, extending to the farmer the facilities adapted to his business that is now afforded corporations.

Farm tenancy is the greatest menace now confronting the nation and can only be checked by affording the tenant and the laborer facilities for acquiring property and by reducing the high rates of interest which are

At the International Sunday School Convention held in Chicago last June Marion Lawrence, the General Secretary, reported that there were now in North America 175,685 Sunday Schools with 1,690,739 officers and teachers, and 16,750,297 pupils, making a total of 18,441,036. The Kentucky Sunday School Association is a part of this great movement. Rev. Geo. A. Joplin is General Secretary; Rev. T. C. Gebauer and Mr. W. J. KENTUCKY HOGS

Diseases caused the swine breeders of Kentucky to lose 135,600 hogs, valued at $1,044,120 last year, according to a report which has just been issued by the Department of Agriculture.

This is an average death rate of 90 per 1,000 per head. During the year 1913 the ratio was 95 per 1,000 head and a total of 156,600 head were lost. The latest census reports, which are dated January 1, 1914, show that there are 1,507,000 head of hogs in Kentucky and they are valued at

Under the present system of marketing products, it is possible and often occurs, that people in one part of the United States literally starve for the want of a product, while the same product in another part of the nation is wasting for want of a market.

A HUNDRED POINT MAN

A hundred-point man is one who is true to every trust; who keeps his word; who is loyal; who does not listen for insults nor look for slights; who carries a civil tongue; who is polite to strangers, without being "fresh"; who is considerate toward servants; who is moderate in his eating and drinking; who is willing to learn, who is cautious and yet courageous. Hundred-point men may vary much in ability, but this is always true—they are safe men to deal with, whether drivers on drays, clerks, cashiers, engineers, presidents of railroads, congressmen or men and officials in all high places in life.—Exchange.

One of the really embarrassing features of the continental struggle is that when the children ask what the blame fools are fighting about we are compelled to disappoint them.

$11,604,000 or $7.70 per head.

The farmers of the entire nation last year lost 7,004,800 head of hogs from disease. Their total value was $75,000,000 and the death rate 119 per 1,000.

The man who never stops to pet a child is a dangerous individual. Self-love is no where else so revealed. There's a whole lot of things every woman knows but as a rule she learns 'em too late to do her any good.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

BLESS THIS HONEST SUBSCRIBER

Out of 1,500 notices to subscribers through the Democrat and otherwise for back subscription only one has responded in spirit and truth. Mr. M. O. Flynn sent us last Tuesday one-half dozen of the nicest frying chickens we have seen this season with directions to credit them on the Democrat books. This was so unusual that one of the hardest rains ever witnessed in this section fell that morning. Can't another one of this 1,500 follow suit and do likewise and send us chickens, meat, flour, meal, lard, fruit, vegetables of any kind, etc., etc.? If you will the Heavenly Father to shed joy and peace and happiness around your future foot steps and ever guard your life in sickness and in health, but if you will not listen to us we will turn you over to old Satan with a hardness of heart and reprobation of spirit.

Remember that it costs money to run a newspaper and if you do not pay your subscription you cannot get to read it. The accounts after this can be found in the hands of our attorney who will collect them peacefully if he can, forcibly if he must.—Carlisle Democrat.

KENTUCKY POTATO PATCH

The Kentucky Irish potato patch contains 51,000 acres this year and the total production will be approximately 2,422,000 bushels, according to estimates made by the United States Crop Reporting Board. The condition of the crop is 50 per cent. of normal and the present price is averaging around 31.26 per bushel.

In Continental United States there are 3,708,000 acres planted to this product and this year's production is estimated at 360,614,000 bushels by the Federal Department of Agriculture. This year's crop will exceed the average crop of the past five years by approximately 4,000,000 bushels. The nation's production last year was 331,525,000 bushels, was produced on 3,688,000 acres of land and sold for $227,903,000, or an average of 90 cents per bushel.

Some people over on this side would be tickled to see Holland get into the embroglio just to see whether Theodore, the frightful, would be willing to leap into the breach and save his mother country from annihilation or stay over here and help the Bull Moose gang to save this one.—Lexington Herald.

A Pandora Box.

The closing temporarily of the Mt. Sterling and Maysville turnpike, in order to re-construct and make same a model highway, has proven a veritable Pandora Box, out of which has come troubles galore, not only to the citizens living in the vicinity effected, but to the officers charged with the enforcement of the Fiscal Court's closing order, as well.

We trust, however, that Hope yet remains, as she did in the Pandora Box of old. If our memory serves us aright, it was Zeus, who in Greek mythology, gave to the beautiful Pandora the so-called "Pandora Box," which when opened, turned loose into the world all kinds of evils and misery. Hope alone remained at the bottom of the box, the lid being closed before she made her escape.

In the present unfortunate situation, there were but two horns to the dilemma—either close the turnpike to all travel and finish the work, or abandon the undertaking. This was the government's ultimatum. Every one, we feel sure, wants to see the work finished as speedily as possible, consistent with thoroughness. Work has progressed fully one-third faster, we are informed, since the travel has been diverted and we believe, upon reflection, those most benefited by this grand improvement, will see the wisdom and necessity for the closing temporarily of this important highway. The future benefits will greatly outweigh the inconvenience, loss of time, trade, etc., now suffered.

The closing rule applies to one and all. No one has the authority to give to any citizen the right to travel the closed portion of the road, to the exclusion of any one else, as every one must be treated with absolute impartiality and equality under the law.

Experts pronounce that portion of the work that is completed to be of a very high order and we want to urge all good citizens to assist in every way possible in securing for Montgomery county the finest specimen of model highway to be found in Kentucky.

The House of Representatives, in order to secure a quorum, has adopted a resolution that no member shall be paid his salary when absent, except on account of illness. This should have always been the rule. No officer should be paid who does not render his best services to the people.

Blundering State Officials.

The State has hardly recovered from the shock that two important amendments to the State Constitution, which were adopted by the people by very large majorities, were null and void because the secretary of state had failed to advertise the election of the same as required by law. These two amendments which were defeated by a blundering State official were a change in our system of taxation and permitting the convicts to be worked on the public roads. It seems that we are to have another amendment wiped out by another blundering official. Lewis county by an overwhelming majority recently voted a bonded debt of five per cent. of its assessed valuation for the purpose of building roads. When the county offered the bonds for sale the Louisville banks, after investigation, said that they could not afford to buy them, because there was no record that Gov. Willson had issued a proclamation declaring that the amendment to the constitution, permitting a county to create a five per cent. indebtedness for roads had ever been adopted. This failure of Gov. Willson is certainly as serious as the one of Secretary of State Crecelius. If the courts hold in the Willson case, as they did in the Crecelius case, that the law was not complied with, and therefore the amendment is null and void, it will be a terrific block to the road development in Kentucky. It will not only prevent counties voting bonded debts to the amount of five per cent. of their assessed value, but will also invalidate the act passed by the last legislature of a five cent. tax for road purposes, as this provision was a part of the same amendment as the right for bonded debt. Truly the State of Kentucky has come to the disastrous condition when the voice of the people is thwarted by blundering officials.—Elizabethtown News.

"We have received a great deal of favorable comment on our determination to run a newspaper without being yoked or collared. So far no one has dared tell us that it is our duty to support a man for office whom we personally know to be untruthful and unworthy of confidence simply because he wears a nomination tag. We would like to see the color of the man's hair who will take such a stand."—Hartford Republican.

Col. Cicero M. Barnett is editor of the Republican. Like Editor Stanley Wood, of the Mt. Sterling Gazette, he refuses to stand hitched to the Republican primary. There are lots of other Republicans who will not vote the ticket in November.—Cynthiana Democrat.

State Treasurer Tom Rhea, who is making one of the best officials at Frankfort, and is doing everything in his power to save the people money, has arranged with the Fidelity and Columbia Trust Company, of Louisville, to handle the $110,000 worth of State warrants that will be mailed to the 2,480 Confederate pensioners this month. The purpose of this arrangement is to keep the pensioners out of the hands of the loan sharks. If all of Kentucky's officers were as faithful and as careful of the people's business as Tom Rhea, the State would be in lots better shape financially and otherwise.—Interior Journal.

While we want to observe President Wilson's admonition concerning recklessness of speech during these troublesome times in Europe, we would like to be permitted to suggest a suspension of hostilities on the part of the others engaged, long enough to permit Germany to whip the thunder out of Japan. She needs it so badly.

Poor Memory.

The Paducah Sun has its political history badly mixed. That paper says:

"Unless recollection fails us, A. E. Willson was the man who was laughed at for saying, he would beat Mr. Beckham on a former occasion, when the latter had gubernatorial aspirations, and who proved the last laughter best, by handing Mr. Beckham a life-size trimming."

The Sun's recollection undoubtedly has failed it. Mr. Willson defeated Judge S. W. Hager for Governor. On the contrary Mr. Beckham in his race for Governor defeated the Hon. J. W. Yerkes who is in every way a much stronger man than Mr. Willson. The fact is Willson was a sort of political accident, but the people of Kentucky may be relied upon to see that he doesn't "happen to" them again.—Frankfort Journal.

Easy to Beat.

There was so little interest taken in the recent Republican Senatorial primary that nobody paid much attention to it. The returns indicate that former Gov. Augustus E. Willson won the nomination and most of the Democratic papers are expressing satisfaction at the result. It was pretty generally recognized that if Richard P. Ernst had secured the nomination he would have put up a stiff fight as Ernst is a good organizer and is well supplied with the "sinews of war." But nobody believes that Willson can poll anything like the party strength, weakened as it is by the Progressive defection—and its a cinch that he can't get any Democratic or independent votes under false pretenses as he did when he made his winning race for Governor.—Bluegrass Clipper.

The Cromwell political letter in Sunday's Enquirer says that Mr. Robert L. Greene, present Clerk of the Court of Appeals "is likely to make the race for Secretary of State."

Inasmuch as he has had a fat job for nearly a quarter of a century, including one or more members of his family, it would seem that his thirst for office ought to be about satisfied and that other Democrats now in the trenches ought to be recognized.

Now that half the world is at war, the "watchful waiting" policy of President Wilson, looks mighty good to us.

PARIS JAILER KILLS MEMBER OF MOB

About 2 o'clock Saturday morning a negro named Henry Johnson, whose home is said to be in Tennessee, entered the residence of Henry M. Meade, at Paris, who is an engineer on the F. & C. Railroad, and who lives on South Main street. Mr. Meade was awakened and grappled with the negro, seizing him by the throat. The negro struck Meade on the head with a hatchet, but the plucky engineer never let go the negro's throat, and after a desperate struggle choked him into insensibility, and grabbing the hatchet the negro had dropped split his head with it. The police were summoned and officers July and King went to Meade's residence and took the negro to the county jail.

About an hour later a mob of about twenty-five to forty men appeared at the jail. One of them was dressed in a Knight of Pythias uniform to make him appear like an officer, and one had his face blacked like a negro. These two went to the door of the jail residence and rang the bell. Jailer Joe A. Faris went to the door and seeing a man in uniform and a negro, and thinking an officer was bringing a negro to jail, he opened the door. No sooner was the door opened than the mob rushed in, seized the jailer and demanded the keys to the jail. He refused to turn over the keys and was roughly handled by the mob, the members of which were armed with pistols. Faris was much bruised about the body, and when the leader presented a pistol at his face Faris grabbed it and the hammer descending caught Faris' right hand between the thumb and index finger and ruptured a blood vessel, from which he bled profusely.

Meantime, Mrs. Faris, hearing the noise, ran downstairs with a pistol, which she succeeded in placing in the hands of her husband, who had momentarily freed himself from his assailants. He backed several steps up the stairway when the leader of the mob snapped his pistol at him. Immediately there was a break for the door and the mob disappeared.

Officers King and July arrived at the jail a few minutes later and found the dead body of a man on the bridge over Stoner Creek, a few feet from the jail. The body was stripped and proved to be that of Eugene Huston, foreman of a switching crew in the yards of the L. & N. Railroad. He is supposed to be the man who had on the Knights of Pythias uniform. All of the mob were masked and none was recognized.

Jailer Faris is in bed suffering from the nervous shock of the encounter and the rough handling he received.

The entire community commends him for defending his prisoner and doing his duty as an officer, but deplors the circumstances which compelled him to take life in discharge of his duty.

The negro died Monday.

No inquest has been held in the case of Huston.

ELK STORY THAT

WON A PRIZE

During the recent convention of the Grand Lodge of Elks in Denver one of the local papers offered a handsome prize for the best Elk story contributed to its columns during the reunion session. This is the story that won the prize:

Bill, the bridegroom of three months, bade his elkette a fond adieu and started on a business trip to a town forty-five miles distant.

The journey was to be made by automobile, he promising to return in time for 7 o'clock dinner. But no husband appeared when dinner was served, and the anxious wife watched the hands of the clock as they moved slowly moved over the dial and showed the hour of midnight, and still the husband failed to appear.

The now frantic wife sent telegrams to six brother Elks living in the town where he had gone, asking if Bill was spending the night with them.

As dawn appeared a farm wagon came up, driven by a farmer and furnishing motive power for a broken-down automobile that trailed behind, steered by the husband. Almost at the same time came a messenger boy with an answer to one of the telegrams followed at intervals by five others, and all of the telegrams said: "Yes, Bill is spending the night with me."

O Loyalty who better than an Elk maintains thy virtue?

IN TANGO TOWN

On the road to Tango Town
Soon we'll dance our troubles down;

All the old-time lovers spy—
They'll beat Trouble hoppin' high!

Joy your rosy dreams will crown
On the road to Tango Town.

Live youth over once again;
Dreams come true that seemed but vain;

Old-time sweethearts then we'll view—

(Bless us! They can tango, too!)
Farewell Trouble's angry frown
On the road to Tango Town!

FOOLISH TRADING

As producers and builders, the American people excel all previous civilization and we are a present-day marvel in business efficiency, but in dealing with foreign countries we are a sorry lot of traders. Even since Wm. Penn traded the Indians a handful of trinkets for what is now the State of Pennsylvania, the American people have been selling their birthright to foreigners for a mess of pottage, so to speak.

We export over $50,000,000 of cattle and their products per annum, which feeds the nations of Europe, and our American heirs spend a similar sum in buying and maintaining counts, dukes and titled peerages. These foreign noblemen are, as a rule, absolutely worthless—in fact become a perpetual liability—for it costs more money to operate and keep them in repair than it does to run our cotton mills. European royalty puts the black sheep of its families on the block and our rich American girls buy them and we virtually exchange railroads, wheat fields and millions of dollars worth of products of farm, mine and factory for titled paupers who could not be resold for any sum. It does not require foreign treaties, a fleet of war vessels or tariff revision to stop this enormous loss. It needs only common sense in the homes of the rich.

We export $18,000,000 of lumber and timber, and American tourists spend a similar amount in motoring over Europe and sight-seeing in foreign lands although the most enchanting scenes of the world are on the American continent.

If European countries suffer loss of 1,500,000 a month as estimated in the present conflict, there will be some consolation in the fact that what they lose on the field in the shape of soldiers we will not be compelled to put up with here in the shape of immigrants peddling fruit, playing hand organs and attracting flies. WHY SUGAR IS HIGH

"So many inquiries have come to us regarding the advance in sugar and so much interest is displayed in this subject that we are sending out the following statement of the cause of the rise in the price of sugar."

The caption of the foregoing is "Note To Editors." The signature is "Domestic Sugar Producers," 30 East Forty-second street, New York.

The statement is as follows: "Europe and America are now engaged in a battle royal for sugar. That is the primary cause of the high prices that now prevail. Cut off by the outbreak of the war from her supply of 1,500,000 tons of sugar ordinarily secured from Germany and Austria-Hungary, England turned to the nearest available sugar market, which happened to be New York. Backed by cash, assuming all the war risk involved in shipment and ready to pay whatever prices might be necessary to secure sugar, British buyers invaded the American market. Within little more than a week they purchased almost 100,000 tons of raw and refined sugar, bidding up the market nearly 3 cents a pound in the process of getting it. Their buying subsidized temporarily only when they found it impossible to secure. As another war measure for securing a supply of sugar, orders were issued in all the sugar-growing colonies of Great Britain forbidding the sale of sugar except for imperial use.

"At the outbreak of the war the visible supply of sugar available for the American market was barely sufficient to last until the new crop of American-grown sugar shown begin to become available in October. The withdrawal of 100,000 tons from this supply created a serious shortage, and inquiries received in the New York market indicating that England would seek to obtain several hundred thousand tons more sugar, and that other European countries might endeavor to purchase sugar here, threatened to make this shortage much more serious. As a result American purchasers in the sugar market, seeking to protect their own trade, entered into active competition with the foreign buyers in the scramble for sugar. To make the situation more acute, consumers in all parts of the country rushed to lay in supplies far in excess of their ordinary purchases, thus accentuating the scarcity.

"The prize for which the buyers of Great Britain and America are contending is the Cuban sugar crop. England and the United States each import annually about 2,000,000 long tons of sugar. The Cuban crop is about 2,500,000 tons, enough to supply one of these two big customers, but entirely inadequate to meet the needs of both. The prospect, therefore, is for a keen struggle on the part of these two countries to secure the bulk of the coming Cuban crop in case the war continues for any considerable length of time.

"When the present blockade of shipping is relieved, it is probable that Great Britain, and possibly also the United States, may obtain some sugar from tropical countries other than Cuba. The fact, remains, however, that the European nations producing annually 8,000,000 long tons of sugar, or 45 per cent. of the entire world's sugar supply, are now at war. A large part of this crop will be sacrificed—how much remains to be seen. At any rate, approximately 2,000,000 tons ordinarily exported from these countries is withdrawn from accustomed trade channels, and this means a world-wide scarcity of sugar while the war continues and probably for some time afterward.

"The one great lesson for the American people in the present situation is the necessity of encouraging and developing the production from American soil of all the sugar required by the American people so that we may be independent of other nations and our consumers may be assured of a permanent adequate supply of cheap sugar."

The moral is to be found in the closing paragraph. All of the sugar required by the American people must be produced from American soil. The one way in which that can be done is by a return to a prohibitive tariff. At least we are to assume unless the domestic sugar producers have changed the whole burden of their song.

Sugar is now selling at double the price that obtained three weeks ago. The reason assigned is that this country is cut off from its outside supply and that the sugar now on hand and soon to be produced can be sold at high prices abroad.

It is not asserted that the supply of sugar on hand has in any wise been decreased. The sugar is here. Its control is in the hands of a few men. Much of it they hope to hold until transportation facilities will enable them to dispose of it abroad at a high figure. Meanwhile Americans are paying two prices for American sugar and the war is not yet a month old.

Could a prohibitive tariff do more for domestic producers, or are they so well satisfied with conditions as to desire the Government to make them perpetual? Somehow the prospect fails to appeal.

DEMAND FOR VEAL

"The demand for veal has increased rapidly, and not only are the surplus dairy calves slaughtered, but thousands of beef calves as well, until a calf will now sell from $8 to $12 when only two or three months old."

This quotation from the Farmer's Bulletin 588 of the U. S. Department of Agriculture means that unless the farmer has unlimited cheap feeds, it is usually more profitable to market the dairy or dual-purpose calves than to attempt to raise them, even though some of them might make good steers. While many deplore this heavy slaughter of calves, and legislation against it has been urged, the consumer's demand must be met.

While the number of cattle has decreased, the demand for meat has naturally grown until now not only have the exports nearly ceased, but the packers that they may provide cheaper meat are now buying cattle that were formerly fed. The farmers who formerly bought nearly finished cattle as feeders have been compelled to pay higher prices for such cattle or take thinned animals.

UNCLE SAM WANTS

BETTER CHILDREN

The federal Department of Labor has established a Children's Bureau to teach parents how to care for children and has just issued a booklet on "Parental Culture" which is for free distribution.

For some time Uncle Sam has been paying considerable attention to the improvement of hogs, chickens and livestock, as well as teaching us how to raise pumpkins and potatoes, and it is encouraging to find attention now being turned toward improving the human race.

This year has been the greatest in the history of the Sunday Schools of Kentucky, there has been a large ingathering of new pupils, better teaching has been done, more new Sunday School buildings erected, many classes for men and women organized, and hundreds of teachers have been taking special courses of study preparing themselves to become better teachers, all of these things and many others give promise of making the State Convention to be held in Lexington, October 20-23, the greatest and most interesting ever held in the State. No Sunday School in our county should fail to have representatives there. Each school can send just as many as it chooses, and should have at least one for each department. PRESIDENT'S WARNING

Addressing the American people, President Wilson issued a statement in connection with the European war warning the citizens of the United States against "that deepest, most subtle, most essential breach of neutrality which may spring out of partisanship, out of passionately taking sides." The President's statement follows:

"My fellow countrymen: I suppose that every thoughtful man in America has asked himself during the last troubled weeks, what influence the European war may exert upon the United States, and I take the liberty of addressing a few words to you in order to point out that it is entirely within our choice what its effect upon us will be and to urge very earnestly upon you the sort of speech and conduct which will best safeguard the nation against distress and disaster.

"The effect of the war upon the United States will depend upon what American citizens say and do. Every man who really loves America will act and speak in the true spirit of neutrality, which is the spirit of impartiality and fairness and friendliness to all concerned. The spirit of the nation in this critical matter will be determined largely by what individuals and society and those gathered in public meetings do and say, upon what newspapers and magazines contain, upon what our ministers utter in their pulpits and men proclaim as their opinions on the streets.

"The people of the United States are drawn from many nations, and chiefly from the nations now at war. It is natural and inevitable that there should be the utmost variety of sympathy and desire among them with regard to the issues and circumstances of the conflict. Some will wish one nation, others another, to succeed in the momentous struggle. It will be easy to excite passion and difficult to allay. Those responsible for exciting it will assume a heavy responsibility; responsibility for no less a thing than the people of the United States, whose love of their country and whose loyalty to its Government should unite them as Americans, all bound in honor and affection to think first of her and her interests, may be divided in camps of hostile opinions, if not in action. Such diversions amongst us would be fatal to our peace of mind and might seriously stand in the way of the proper performance of our duty as the one great nation at peace, the one people holding itself ready to play a part of impartial mediation and speak the counsels of peace and accommodation, not as a partisan, but as a friend.

"I venture therefore, my fellow countrymen, to speak a so-called word of warning to you against that deepest, most subtle, most essential breach of neutrality ty to the struggle before another. "My thought is of America. I am speaking, I feel sure, the earnest wish and purpose of every thoughtful American that this great country of ours, which is, of course, the first in our thoughts and in our hearts, should show herself in this time of peculiar trial a nation fit beyond others to exhibit the fine poise of undisturbed judgment, the dignity of self-control, the efficiency of dispassionate action; a nation that neither sits in judgment upon others nor is disturbed in her own counsels, and which keeps herself fit and free to do what is honest and disinterested and truly serviceable for the peace of the world.

"Shall we not resolve to put upon ourselves the restraint which will bring to our people the happiness and the great and lasting influence for peace we covet for them?"

what constitutes contraband. Such questions cannot conceivably involve us in difficulties. They will be settled by the ordinary process. The general principles of neutrality and neutral commerce are plain. The United States will adhere rigorously to them. Friendly intercourse, as far as circumstances permit, will be its rule and its procedure.

Stock exchanges have closed—a wise precaution. This country cannot be the dumping ground of the whole body of securities that war-mad Europe is anxious to convert into money. Elsewhere there is no prospect of in-

Keep its head well up against the sea. Don't let it get into the trough of the waves. Let every man realize that at this moment calm confidence and calm thankfulness are the first duty. They are absolutely justified by the favorable condition in which we find ourselves. They are the certain guarantee of a continuance of those conditions.

FRANKFORT TO VOTE ON COMMISSION PLAN

Citizens of Frankfort to the number of more than four hundred have signed a petition for an election to pass upon the proposition to change the city's form of government to the commission plan. Councilman L. B. Marshall is said to have been behind the movement and the chief backer of the petitions. County Judge Hieatt will call the election.

PARCEL POST ELIMINATES THE MIDDLEMAN

Officials of the United States Department of Agriculture have been testing out the parcel post as a means of marketing eggs and have found it highly satisfactory. The department has shipped 466 lots, consisting of 9,131 eggs to various parts of the nation and upon arrival at destination, only 327 eggs, or three and one half per cent. of the total were broken. Ten dozen eggs can be shipped in one container a distance of 150 miles at a cost of 4.7 cents per dozen. This includes the cost of transportation and container.

Kentucky postal authorities advise that the farmers and farmers' wives of this state are utilizing the parcel post extensively in selling farm products direct to the consumers and excellent results have been obtained.

Last winter when eggs were being sold by retailers at from 50 to 65 cents to the consumer the farmers were only receiving 20 and 25 cents per dozen for their product, giving the middleman from 30 to 40 cents on each dozen eggs he handled. The parcel post system of marketing entirely eliminates the middleman's profit and divides the profit of the middleman among producer and consumer.

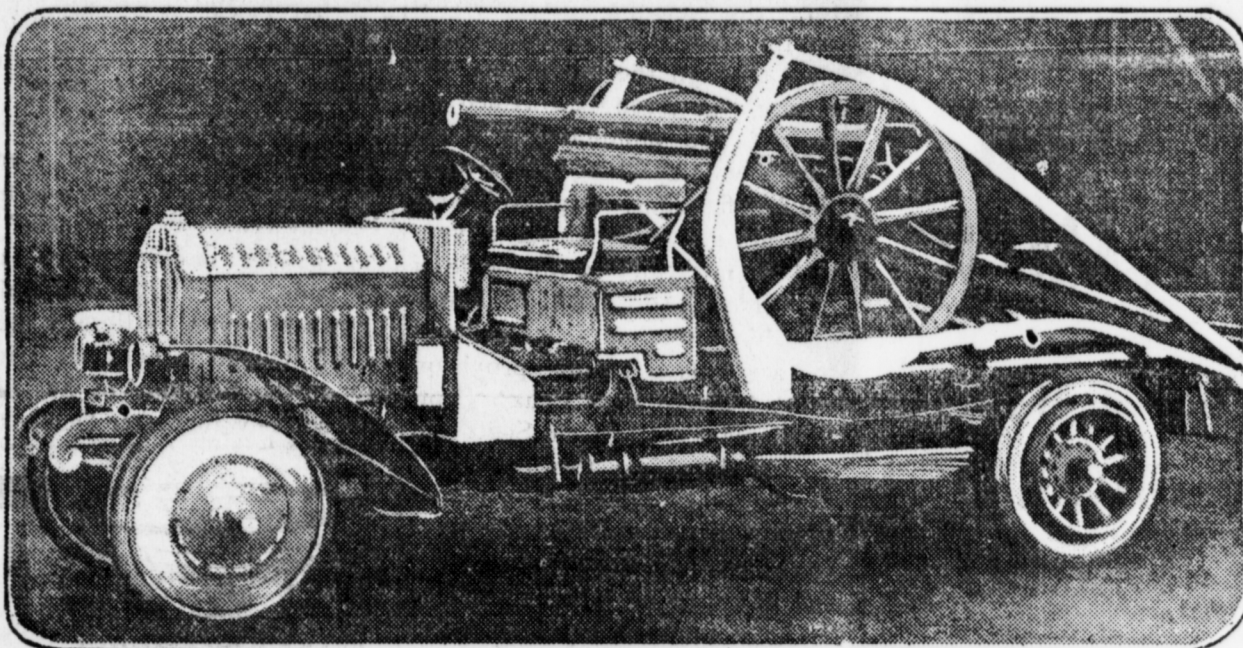

The thought that while we eminent newspaper men and other wealthy folks are spending our vacations in luxurious ease and throwing our fabulous salaries from us with the reckless prodigality of staggering opulence, others are out in the misty shadows of the lurid border line fighting, falling, dying for the Lord only knows what, "sorter" makes a fellow feel that it is worth while to be an American citizen in spite of the distressing fact that we are under Wilson and "Democratic misrule."—Lexington Herald.

which may spring out of partisanship, out of passionately taking sides. The United States must be neutral in fact, as well as in name, during these times that are to try men's souls. We must be impartial in thought as well as in action, must put a curb upon our sentiments as well as upon every transaction that might be construed as a preference of one SIT TIGHT! DON'T ROCK THE BOAT!

Sit tight! Don't rock the boat! That's the watchword today. That's the first duty of every American at this moment. That's what this country needs to keep it straight and safe and true to its course—absolutely all it needs.

Business conditions are sound. We have one of the greatest grain crops in history. Its value has already advanced. We have a sound financial system, backed by the greatest store of gold in the world. Our banks are solid, safe. There is nothing the matter with the United States.

War will mean an unprecedented demand for supplies. Experts declare American business will feel a great impetus. While other nations destroy, this country will produce. While other nations are armed camps, this country will be a farm, a factory, a forge. Trade extension is predicted in all directions. The immediate future is plain.

The national administration is acting wisely, promptly. The sum of $500,000,000 is available, under the Aldrich-Vreeland act, for an emergency. The organization of the reserve board will soon be complete. This will enable us to deal more effectively with the outflow of gold. Plans are perfecting to permit American registry of foreign vessels. This will protect and develop our commerce.

We are preparing to maintain strict neutrality. Questions may arise with foreign nations as to interference with the orderly processes of American business. Stable conditions are here. All we have to do is to keep them stable.

The administration has decided to appeal officially to the public to help maintain existing satisfactory conditions. The public cannot fail to respond. The only danger is one which it may create itself. Its course is simple. All it has to do is to sit tight, to do nothing to disrupt the fortunate condition in which this country happily finds itself.

Don't rock the boat—that's the central idea. The swell from the battle ship, "Europe" will be felt. But it will not hurt us. It need not even break over the sides. There's nothing the matter with

CORRESPONDENCE

Stoops.

(By B. M. Goodan)

The time is on hand now when there is no rest for the tobacco grower.

The rainy spell has sure been a boon to stock men. Grazing is better now than it has been all summer.

Russell Heaton, whose right leg was broken several days ago, is getting along nicely.

R. L. Stone and wife, of Owingsville, were visitors here one day last week.

What is believed to be one of the finest crops of tobacco this section has ever produced, is now about ready to be housed. But getting it housed is a problem.

Jesse T. Morgan, of Indiana is with relatives here.

Thos. N. Coons and family will probably move into their handsome new residence this week.

Mrs. Roy Byrd and little daughter, Mary Ellen, barely escaped serious injury Friday when the horse they were driving became frightened and kicked itself loose from the buggy.

Mrs. Wm. Donaldson, who has been ill for several weeks, does not show much sign of improvement.

Subscribers of the Owingsville Outlook were notified last week that the paper was forced to suspend publication indefinitely. The Outlook had been published continuously for 36 years, and old subscribers deeply regret that the paper is to come no more. We have been The Outlook's correspondent for the past fifteen years, and we advise its subscribers to do the next best thing, subscribe for the Mt. Sterling Advocate.

While attempting to jump from a buggy Sunday afternoon, Miss Maggie Lee Foley caught her foot between the buggy spokes and was thrown violently to the pike. She was rendered unconscious for some time, and it is feared her injuries are of a serious nature.

The Stoops base ball team went to Stepstone Sunday afternoon to play the Stepstone team. Stepstone was playing the Johnson Station team, and won by the score of 13 to 12. Then Stoops defeated Stepstone by the score of 5 to 4.

We deeply regret to learn of the death of our old friend, Mr. D. L. Estill, of The Owingsville Outlook. Since early childhood we have seen him toil incessantly in The Outlook office, ever striving to please all people. He was a true Kentucky gentleman and whenever it's our lot to visit the city on the hill, we shall miss the kind word and hearty hand shake of our life long friend. Peace be to his ashes.

"RED" TOM DAVIDSON FREED IN THIRD TRIAL

The jury in the Davidson case at Winchester found him not guilty. Judge Benton then called all other defendants before him, and continued their cases indefinitely. He said, however, he would not dismiss them and at the first hint of trouble would bring them here to stand trial. He told Dock Smith he had admitted enough guilt to warrant his death in the electric chair, and especially cautioned him and Bob and Dan Deaton. After Judge Benton's admonition the defendants gathered around him and promised to profit by his advice. Following the verdict, Judge Benton commented: "Notwithstanding the fact that Davidson has been found not guilty by a jury, after two other juries failed to agree, I am firmly convinced that the Commonwealth's contention of his guilt is not erroneous."

The case of witnesses indicted for perjury were also continued indefinitely. The trials of the various cases have cost the State $15,000.

"CERRO GORDO"

When the war with Mexico broke out, Gen. Williams, Capt. Williams, then, recruited a company of 120 men and took to Frankfort. Owsley was Governor at that time and Capt. Williams learned that the regiments, he wished to join had their full quota of troops and his company could find no quarters among them. Capt. Williams at once wrote to the Secretary of War and while waiting for his orders he spent $1,700 buying uniforms for his men. The Secretary of War accepted his independent company of volunteers and ordered them to join Gen. Wool at San Antonio, Texas. Gen. Wool gladly accepted Capt. Williams' company of gallant Kentuckians and they went to Monteroy and joined the forces of Gen. Taylor. Capt. John S. Williams never lost an opportunity to drill his men and so thoroughly were they drilled day and night by sunlight and moonlight that when Gen. Scott selected the flower of Gen. Taylor's army, the regulars, as they were called, to distinguish them from the volunteers, who had not received a military education, that he saw the promise of Capt. Williams' company and took them also. Capt. Williams was with the left infantry in the battle of Vera Cruz but lost none of his men in the fierce bombardment of four days that ended in the capture of the strong castles of San Juan De Ulloa.

The battle of Cerro Gordo took place April 18, 1847. Gen. Scott's army was on the march for the acitol of Mexico. At the pass of Cerro Gordo that runs through the mountains, the enemy was strongly fortified on top of the mountain, a great stone wall reaching all around the fortifications. Capt. Williams and his son enlisted for a year and the night before the battle of Cerro Gordo Capt. Williams and his men had been ordered to accompany some provision trains back to Vera Cruz. Capt. Williams went to Gen. Scott and protested against this order: "I have drilled by day and by moonlight, I have subjected my boys to the strictest discipline and if I fail either to be killed myself or to have some of my men killed they will never forgive me." "Very well," said Gen. Scott, you shall have the opportunity you seek tomorrow morning."

Morning came and found Capt. Williams and his men ready. Williams, with his company of sixty, were under Gen. Pillow, who commanded the left wing. They began to ascend the mountains in the direction of the fortress above the pass of Cerro Gordo. Wyne, Cooks' and Campbell's regiments of 2,000 were expected to join Gen. Pillow and his men before the attack began. While these regiments were two miles in the rear Gen. Pillow and Capt. Williams stood talking about the attack that was soon to begin when some Mexicans in ambush fired at them and wounded Gen. Pillow, killed Capt. Williams' pack mules, but did not wound him as he stood a few feet from Gen. Pillow. Gen. Pillow in the anger and excitement that the excruciating pain from his wound caused him gave the command for his troops to charge. Capt. Williams and his company at once led the charge as commanded. Up through the cactus and thorny jungles of Chaparral these brave Kentuckians made their way until they came to where the Mexicans had cleared a space around the high walls, that were around the fortress. The trees cut from this space had been laid side by side with their limbs in the direction by which the enemy must approach the fortification. When Capt. Williams and his men came to these trees, full of thorns, and attempted to surmount them the task was so difficult and their efforts necessarily so slow that had not the order been given "To fall back" every man would have perished. As it was said, Gen. Williams, with tears welling up in his eyes that had looked on a hundred battlefields and thousands of dead men, said: "I lost seventeen of my brave boys who sleep in one grave beneath the walls of that frowning fortress of Cerro Gordo and only two men out of sixty under me came out of that charge without a bullet hole either in his body or his clothes."

Capt. Williams' men gathered their dead, dying and wounded and took them to a branch in the mountain under shelter of which they awaited the advancing troops. Capt. Williams' company or the remnant that remained of it formed the nucleus around which formed the left-wing of the army of Gen. Scott. A plugging fire was opened simultaneously on the fortifications with an assault in front and the battle was won. Santa Anna left his wooden leg in his flight with his troops and thus the soldiers under Scott knew that it was he against whom they had fought.

Shortly after this Capt. Williams, then a mere boy, was made Colonel for bravery at Cerro Gordo and his fame and the fame of his company spread like wild fire through the ranks of the army. Gen. Scott and his staff visited the wounded Kentuckians and if honor and the praise of distinguished soldiers could have soothed them, in death, they had all that could be given.

Said Gen. Williams: "Not in the records of the world's history is there a more wonderful man than Santa Anna. After being defeated at the battle of Beuna Vista, February 23, 1847, he conciliated the priesthood which was a very difficult task and gathered together 36,000 men at Cerro Gordo, by April 18, 1847, and had his army ready for an attack."

A soldier never forgets the first company he drills and which follows him into battle any more than a woman forgets her bridal day or the birthday of her first born son.—Winchester Democrat.
